

NIGHT KITCHEN RADIO THEATER, recorded live at the Kennedy Center Arts Center for broadcast over XM Satellite Radio and public radio stations, introduces a new generation to the pleasures of classic literature and radio drama and invites older folks along for the ride. Volume 1 of the collection presents high-quality creative narrations of two classics of children's literature, "The Emperor's New Clothes" and "Pinocchio." With talented casts, realistic sound effects, and clever multilayered adaptations, these radio dramas deliver journeys into the imagination that will enchant audiences young and old. Leonard Marcus, an authority in the field of children's literature, supplies background for the stories and enhances appreciation of these timeless tales.

N.E.M © AudioFile 2007, Portland, Maine— Copyright © AudioFile, Portland, Maine